Guideline for Seminar I

Students registered for Seminar I course must follow the guideline below:

1) Students are required to prepare a draft of the “Thesis Proposal” (the recent version of the form can be downloaded from the website of the Faculty of Science, Chulalongkorn University). The draft must be approved and signed by the thesis advisor and submitted in PDF format to the Secretary of the Program Committee. The submission must be made at least two weeks prior to the seminar date. Failure to comply with this deadline will result in disqualification from presenting at the seminar.

2) Students are to consult with their thesis advisor regarding the selection of the thesis examination committee members. The composition of the committee must meet the qualifications set forth in the Chulalongkorn University Regulations on Graduate Studies, 2018. The names of the proposed committee members must be listed in the thesis proposal, and the individuals nominated must be informed of their selection. The composition must also comply with the Graduate School's specific requirements.

3) Students are required to prepare a summary based on at least five academic articles that are relevant or closely related to the proposed thesis. This summary must include a synthesis and critical analysis of the content of the selected articles and must not exceed four A4 pages in length. The summary must be submitted in PDF format to the Secretary of the Program Committee at least two weeks prior to the seminar date.

4) The presentation time is approximately 15 minutes followed by a Question and Answer (Q&A) session for up to 15 minutes.

5) The Program Committees serves to evaluate students' performance and determine a "Satisfied" or "Unsatisfied" grade for students. Students will be informed their grades within one week after the Seminar. Decisions by the Program Committee are final and are not subjected to further review.

This guideline is effective as of August 4th , 2025

Guideline for Participation in Seminar Courses

---

Students registered to any Seminar course must attend the Seminar at least 80% of the total seminar class. While attending a seminar during the semester, we encourage you to ask questions/contribute to discussions. Any questions/comments should be useful and constructive for seminar presenters and audiences, as well as relevant to the seminar presentation. Students who do not meet this requirement will be considered “Unsatisfied” in the Seminar course. Under a specific circumstance, students may write a letter to the committee of the Program to ask for an approval of class absence. In addition, Students registered to the Thesis and Dissertation Courses are highly recommended to attend the Seminar.

This guideline is effective as of August 4th , 2025
